

Happy Holidays 2015 and Happy New Year 2016

Tucson Sheppards say hi.

Katherine graduated from ASU.
Looks good in maroon and gold.

Katherine got to do geology
in the Aleutians, i.e., helicoptering
from boat to various islands
and collecting rock samples.
What a trip!

Paul got in a trip as well, a bucket-lister at that:
Hiking the John Muir Trail. Too many photos from that one to include here, but I made an album that is viewable as a video in youtube. If you'd like to see it, start with the url down below. Or email me to get the url (sheppard@lrr.arizona.edu).

Irene continues enjoying Grace Ann the trailer, using it a lot for glamping. She even found an app to watercolor-ize photos, turning Grace Ann into a real retro masterpiece.
Einstein still loves traveling, even if it's hard to see how it is he actually sees.

Suerte for 2016.
It's official: We live in interesting times.
